Q: Can I use a plan to write a setting description?

As time drifted by you could see the clouds falling in the castle. You can see the mountains ^{trying} to block the castle from behind because it is stinky and it shuts up your mind with a hole lot of evil.

After a while you can smell the giant cooking food and you can smell the giant coming closer, closer and closer like the world shaking and like the sound of a humans heart pumping faster and faster.

In the distance you can hear the giant fighting its way and you can hear voices all around. You can hear birds twittering to each other and you can hear nothing but dark voices and evil.

All around you, all you can touch is the ice falling from the sky and it is like hail stones crashing the world with such evilness like the world is erupting like a volcano, bursting with red, yellow, orange lava.
